Renaming our fund range

soon to become

NN investment partners

The renamings are subject to approval of the Regulatory authorities and / or Investors. Mentioned dates may change.

1 Background & Objectives

As part of the EC Restructuring agreement, ING Group has agreed to divest its Insurance and Investment Management activities. As of July 2 2014, NN Group N.V. (where ING Investment Management is part of) is listed on Euronext Amsterdam.

This standalone future means that new brand names are going to be used, Investment Management will be rebranded as NN Investment Partners and most of our funds will be renamed as well.

This document gives more details about the renaming of our funds:

- Most funds will change their name from ING to NN
- Some funds will undergo an additional name change
- A minority of funds will not change names

2 Key facts

This phase of the fund renaming includes:

- 146 Luxembourg subfunds
- 130 Dutch funds
- 8 Belgium funds
- 34 Polish funds
- 54 Japanese funds
- 5 Cayman funds

3 Questions & Answers

Question	Answer
When will the renaming take place?	Subject to relevant regulator's approval, renaming of most funds is expected to take place on April 7, provided that an adequate number of shareholders of the corporate fund structure agree thereto in accordance with applicable laws and regulations. For detailed information about the planned renaming, please check the enclosed appendix from page 6 onwards.
How does the renaming work?	As you will see in the appendix, the renaming will take the form of a simple replacement of ING with NN or a more extensive name change. The subfunds with additional name change are highlighted in the appendix.
What are the dealing arrangements for the subfunds?	No dealing arrangements are applicable, because no significant change is made to the funds.
What are the consequences for the investors and what do they need to do?	As a consequence of rebranding investors of corporate fund structures are entitled to vote on the new names at the general meetings. Convening notices will be released in order to inform shareholders of the proposed changes and the applicable procedures.
Will the investment policy be affected by these mergers?	The investment policy will not change.
Will there be a change of ISIN codes?	The ISIN codes of the funds will not change.

Question	Answer
Will there be a change of Bloomberg ticker codes?	The Bloomberg ticker codes will not change.
Will there be a change in the management fee?	As a consequence of rebranding the management fee will not change.
Are there impacts on the track record and rating, according to the relevant data by the providers (such as Bloomberg, Morningstar, Lipper) and on Fund Factsheets?	As a consequence of rebranding there will be no impact on the track record and rating.
Are there any extra costs involved?	As a consequence of rebranding no extra costs will be charged to the subfunds.
Does a month notice period apply during which investors can redeem their shares / participation rights in accordance with the terms and conditions that usually apply as a consequence of the name changes?	No.
How and when will the renaming be communicated to our clients? (Notifications, press announcement, letters, etc.)	The renaming will be communicated to all investors end of January / early February. For detailed information see communication table with notifications in appendix from page 6 onwards.

Question	Answer
What impact do these renaming have on outstanding physical shares?	This renaming has no impact on outstanding physical shares.
Can we expect any more of these kind of operations in the future?	As a follow up to the introduction of the new brand and name, ING Investment Management will continue to pursue further opportunities to improve their (legal) organization in line with this. Furthermore ING Investment Management regularly reviews its fund ranges. Therefore, more changes can be expected in the future and will be communicated to clients as and when they occur.
